

Our Quality Policy

We are committed to enhancing the satisfaction of our customers with the goods and services we provide. To deliver our commitment we will:

- Satisfy the requirements of our customers and the applicable standards
- Continually improve our quality management system
- Communicate and apply our policy throughout the company

To support this policy our Executive Committee will ensure we:

Collaborate with customers

Work with customers to understand their individual specifications and performance requirements.

Continually improve our products by incorporating all our learning from 'thinking like our customers' and from applications testing and performance evaluations.

Aim for the highest levels of customer satisfaction.

Build in quality in all operations

Through full ownership and responsibility we will produce products that satisfy customers' requirements throughout the supply chain.

Realise our target of building-in quality at every stage of every process through company-wide adoption of operational excellence.

Deliver our vision through the combined effort, commitment and focus of our people.

Build in quality in all innovations

Our commitment to quality begins at the product concept stage and during process change.

Ensure quality is 'built-in' by working directly with customers.

Adhere to our internal new product introduction and change management processes.

Constantly pursue the process of excellence by improving our quality systems.

All Element Six employees are responsible for adhering to this policy.
